Manhood Clothing – Weaving Resilience Through Denim

Botshabelo Industrial Park, Free State | Est. 1997

Specialising in denim jeans, chinos, dyed fabrics & workwear, this textile manufacturer employs 180 people and supplies big names like Woolworths.

With FDC's industrial park space, they've expanded to five factories, created jobs, and kept their workforce stable — no retrenchments despite rising costs and market challenges.

A true local success story, driving economic growth and skills in the community.
